

WORLD CONGRESS FOR CLIMATE JUSTICE

Thematic Assembly minutes

Social Ecology, Eco-Marxism, Green Anarchism Compared: Towards an Anticapitalist Synthesis

14 October 2023, h.11.30-13.30 - University of Milan, aula magna

CONCEPTS

- Bookchin and social ecology
- Malm and fossil capital
- Sato and degrowth communism
- Reclus and green anarchism
- The First Climate International?
- Desirability of the future to be fought for
- Intersectional understanding of oppression
- Decolonial thought and colonial dispossession
- Metabolic rift in ecomarxism
- Biocommunes and biocentrism
- Life of sufficiency for all
- A World without borders
- Mutual care, mutual aid, self-management
- Radical climate politics means addressing needs
- Confederalism, bioregionalism, radical direct democracy
- Class/Gender/Ethnic hierarchies and capitalist domination
- Pragmatic materialism
- Coordinated, transnational, intentional social power
- Precarity of labor, instability of capital
- Climate crisis, ecological transition, social revolution
- Plans to win the climate struggle
- Superseding of fossil and financial élites
- Pushing neoliberal capitalism to its end: feets of clay and chokepoints
- Climate reparations and abolition of climate finance as non-reformist reforms

PROPOSALS

- A climate action magazine
- A book imprint devoted to climate movements and radical ecology
- A travelling debate society?

